The count in several of the far western states was naturally so delayed as to give little indication of the outcome there, but they had ceased to have a determining effect and the Democratic leaders gave up the contest, and it was announced that Mr Bryan had gone to bed and was sound

The whole story was easily and briefly told. The Republican ticket would have a larger electoral vote than four years ago, but in the larger states of the east and middle west the plu-ralities had been greatly reduced. Massachusetts had fallen from 174. The following tables show the fluctu | 000 to 50,000; New York from 268,000 to 150,000, and Illinois from 142,000

VICTORY FOR

XXXIX-NO 34

He Defeated His Opponents In Pennsylvania.

STATE CARRIED BY

The Republican Candidate For President Had a Big Plurality-Republicans Also Made a Substantial Gain In Congressmen-State senate In Doubt.

Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—Estimates from one-half of the counties in Pennsylvania indicate a plurality for Mc-Kinley of over 200,000. In this city the fusion of the Democrats with the Municipal League cut down the Republican county majority, but J. Hampton Moore, for city treasurer. and Jacob Singer, for register of wills, are elected by more than 50,000 plurality. In Montgomery and Chester counties, where the fusionists made a strong fight to elect nine anti-Quay members of the legislature, they suffered a severe setback, the regular Republicans winning by large majoriteis.

Pennsylvania's delegation in the next congress will be not less than 24 Republicans to 6 Democrats, as against 20 Republicans and 10 Democrats in the present congress.

M. S. Quay's friends are claiming they will have a majority on joint ballot favorable to his re-election to the United States senate, and the returns would appear to bear out this claim.

The control of the state senate as between Quay and anti-Quay is in doubt, with chances favoring the Quayites, though the complete returns may give the organization of that body to the opponents of Mr. Quay.

BRYAN TOOK IT EASILY.

Went to Sleep Early In the Evening, After Seeing Some of the Returns.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 7.-Mr. Bryan received election returns at his residence in this city. His house was fairly overrun with newspaper men and telegraph operators. Not only was the first floor of the house largely given up to them, but two of the rooms in the second story also. Four telegraph wires were run in the house. Mr. Bryan had with him his brother, Charles Bryan; his former law partner, ex-State Senator Talbot; Committeeman Dahlman and Attorney

Mrs. Bryan had as companions a cousin, Mrs. Rogers, and Mrs. Dahlman. Mr. Bryan took his dinner at a little after 6 o'clock, and, after partaking of the meal, spent a few minutes in conversation with the newspaper men, referring to the bulletins received, and asking some questions about different sections, but without veni ing an opinion upon the figures. The first bulletin was the one announcing that Poughkeepsie, N. Y., had given McKinley a majority of 1,337 and this was quickly followed by another bulletin to the effect that Elmira had gone in Mr. Bryan's favor to the extent of 1.722 majority.

About S o'clock, when the newspaper men congregated at Mr. Bryan's house sought to secure a statement from him, they were told that he had just gone to sleep and could not be disturbed. When he retired to his own room he glanced over the returns with apparent interest, and then expressing a desire to make up some of the rest he had lost in the past few weeks, lay down and was asleep in less than five minutes. He slept an bour in the afternoon, after which he went for a herseback ride to his farm. He did not, however, feel fully reconcepted, and, therefore, sought additional rest, thus manifesting probably less concern than hundreds of thousands of his followers.

JONES DIDN'T GIVE UP. Said He Would Wait Until Today to

Make a Statement. Chiengo, Nov. 7.-About midnight Senator Jones arose from the large easy chair at his desk, stretched his arms over his head and said: "Well, I am going to follow the example of Mr. Bryan, who told me a few minutes ago over the long distance phone that he was going to bed and get a good sleep." Five minutes later the senator was in his room. Pressed for a statement either conceding or claiming the election, he replied: "When I come down in the morning and learn the result in Indiana, Ohio, Maryland, California and West Virginia, I can tell you what I think "Do you mean you concede New York to the Republicans?" "Well, replied the senator, "the Republicans claim New York, and it looks like they have it, but I am not going to concede anything tonight. After the senator's departure ex-Governor Altgeld and ex-Governor Hogg remained for some time at headquarters, reading bulletins to a few who still clustered about the chairman's desk, but before 1 o'clock they, too, went away and shortly afterwards the rooms were locked up-and described for the night.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 7.-Returns up to 1:30 a. m. continue to show Demogratic gains, though both sides still claim the election.

Homestead Wallops Duquesnes. Phasburg, Nov. 7 .- The election day football game between Homestead A. C. and Duquesne A. C. resulted in a viclory for the former by a scere of 10 to 0. Richard Hardman, colored, deputy Fifteen thousand people saw the game.

AMERICAN PANTHEON

COMPREHENSIVE ADJUNCT TO THE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK.

What the Hall of Fame Aspires to Be and What It Has Already Accomplished-Honor to America's Great-

No other domestic, nonpolitical affair is attracting so much attention just now as the Hall of Fame of the University of the City of New York, and rightly so, for the memorial building will stand for all time as an American Pantheon, in honor of the mighty dead. The idea is by this time familiar to American readers. Briefly describ ed, it is as follows: Some time ago the chancellor of the university, Henry M. McCracken, received from some one who wished his or her name kept secret a gift of $100,000. This money was to be expended in the crection of a "Hall of Fame For Great Americans." In the edifice are to be kept statues, portraits and other mementos of those who were deemed worthy of the honor of being placed on the list of 100 of the greatest dead Americans. The donor is said to be Miss Helen Gould. The candidates for positions in the Hall of Fame must have been dead at least ten years, and their selection is now being made by a committee composed of the most eminent college presidents, justices and public men of the country. It is noteworthy that only one great American, the Father of His Country, has thus far received a unanimous vote.

The University of New York, although not as well known as others of the great educational institutions of the country, has nevertheless done much good in a quiet way. Nor has it been without distinguished men, for within its walls have labored, among others, the Drapers, famous as authors and chemists, and S. F. B. Morse, the inventor of the telegraph. The university dates from 1835 and about five years ago removed most of its schools and colleges to its present beautiful site on University heights, near Morris heights, in the upper part of New York city, overlooking the Harlem river. The buildings of the university are costly and stately edifices, such as would do credit to any college in the land. Among them is situated the Hall of Fame, itself a structure of beauty and cost.

The Hall of Fame is almost completed and stands on the western verge of the plateau upon which are the other buildings of the university. It is a beautiful building of granite and limestone, built in the form of a semicircle, and contains two stories. The lower story consists of a hall, along which may be ranged memorials to the illustrious dead. The second story is open, constructed with a colonnade. In the pavement at intervals will be bronze tablets, each inscribed with the name of a great dead American. There will be an annex, built so as to be harmonious in architecture. which will contain 30 names of great Americans by adoption. The main hall of fame is reserved for those who are American by birth.

SANITARY DRINKING SUP.

Insures Cleanliness by Constant Flow of Eresh Water.

Members of both the board of edutation and the board of health are disen sing a new drinking cup for use in the Atlanta public schools. It is represcuted as being the most sanitary drinking utensil that has yet been invented. A picture of the new cup is reproduced herewith from the Atlanta Constitution.

The cup is stationary and rests ever • basin which catches the overflow.

The water comes direct from the pipes to the cup and is allowed to run as long as desired. The flow is controlled by a faucet just above the basin.

It is proposed to allow the water to run into this cup during school hours. There is a constant flow over the sides of the cup, preventing contamination of any kind. Sticks, weeds or anything else not too heavy is thrown from the cup by the force of the water. The edges can never be contaminated by diseased mouths because of the constant flow. In drinking the mouth is placed to the cup without moving the contrivance.

In addition to its other advantages the cup is believed to be especially adapted to southern schools because ice cannot be placed in the water which the children drink. The water is cooled by means of a coil of pipe around which ice is packed, the action being much like that of a condensing worm in a still.

Extravagance of the Poor. In his principles of economics Professor Marshall says that perhaps $500,000,000 annually is spent by the working classes and $2,000,000,000 by the rest of the population of England in ways that do little or nothing toward making life nobler or truly happier. The presidential address before the economic section of the British association at its recent Bradford meeting by Henry Higgins was devoted to proving the above statement by pointing out the many ways in which, largely through ignorance, the working classes absolutely throw money away. The simple item of food waste alone is almost enough, according to Mr. Higgins, to justify the above figures. The women do not know how to buy economically, and owing to the large number who are now practically "brought up" in factories very few of them are passable cooks or even good housekeepers. Housekeeping of even the humbler sort is an art. To know what is the cheapest food from the point of view of contained nutriment, how to cook it to the best advantage and how not to have any waste does not come to a woman by intuition. As Mr. Higgins says, if more knowledge and time were devoted to the teaching of cooking in our schools the meals of most families would be more varied, more appetizing and nutritious and much more economical. Mr. Atkinson has estimated that the waste of food in the United States from bad cooking alone is over $1,000,000,000 a year. In speaking of expensive habits, such as liquor drinking and smoking, Mr. Higgins refers to the latter as the most economical of recreations. "How else, for instance, could the Harz miner give himself an agreeable sensation a thousand times a year at so low a cost as $2? But nobody," he continues, "would wish to see a freeman using his tobacco as the Russian peasants described to me by Prince Krapotkin, who first chewed it, then dried and smoked it and finally used the ashes as snuff." The time may not be far distant, Mr. Higgins suggests, when in large industrial towns the entire preparation of meals will be in the hands of specialists, just as the originally domestic operations of baking and brewing now

IRRIGATION IN THE EAST

Results of Experiments Carried on In New Jersey.

VALUABLE TO AGRICULTURISTS

Irrigating Plants Would Pay by Giv ing Increased Yields to Eastern decided to make it one mile, which is Farmers - $1,500,000 Lost In One laid down as the maximum range of Hay Crop by Drought-Statistics of the Uncertainty of Rain.

The office of experiment stations of the United States department of agri | culture will soon issue bulletin No. 57 entitled "Irrigation In New Jersey," It was prepared by Professor E. B. Voor hees of the New Jersey experiment sta tion and describes his experiments in irrigation for 1899.

It is generally thought that the ne cessity for irrigation in the United States exists only in the region west of the Mississippi river, but repeated crop failures in the east and successful farming in the west have called atten tion to the importance of controlling the moisture of soils rather than accepting the conditions as they exist says the Washington correspondent of the New York Sun. Professor Voorhees estimates the loss to the hay crop of New Jersey from the drought in May and early June, 1899, at $1,500. 000, while small fruits and vegetables were even more seriously affected.

To show the frequency of such droughts as that of 1899 the bulletin cites the rainfall records of Philadel phia: "The rainfall records in Philadelphia from 1825 to 1895, 70 years, show that in 88 per cent of the years there was a deficiency of over one inch for one month, or that in 62 years out of the 70 there was one month in the growing season, from April to August in which such a marked deficiency occurred as to cause a serious shortage of crop and that for the same period there were 39 years in which the deficiency extended throughout two months, while in 21 years it extended throughout three months, or in 30 per cent of the years included in this record there were three months during the growing period in which the average ramfall was deficient one inch or more.

"It is thus observed that a wide series of crops would be likely to suffer in more than one-half of the years for which the record is available, while a still larger number would suffer in nearly one-third of the years, for it must be remembered that even a slight deficiency in one month may result in serious reduction in yield and consequent loss if it occurs at a time when the crop is making its largest develop ment."

The experiments conducted by Professor Voorhees and reported in this bulletin were for the purpose of determining whether irrigation during these short periods of drought would result in sufficient increase of yield to pay for the works necessary to obtain the supof the yields of plants which received possesses. identical treatment, except that some were irrigated and others were not.

The yields of the irrigated plats over acre. worth $93.42; raspberries, 329 quarts per acre, worth $32.90; currants, 852 quarts per acre, worth $85.20. The increase in yield would not be so marked every year as in 1899, as the drought of that year was exceptional.

The bulletin contains detailed descriptions and statements of cost for a number of small irrigation plants in New Jersey. All of these are pumping plants. The cost of plants large enough to supply ten acres of small fruits and garden crops has varied from $230 to $500. Records of the returns from these plants have not been kept, but the owners are all satisfied that their installation has been very profitable. and in nearly every instance have stat-

The work in New Jersey is a part of rigation now being carried on by the office of experiment stations in different regions of the United States. SUBMARINE VESSELS.

The Important Part They Will Play In Future Buttles.

Submarine vessels are to play an important part in the naval battles of the future, says the Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune. Experiments in good light and on a calm sea show that a submarine vessel running on the surface becomes visible at 1,700 yards. If has been, however, for safety's sake, Beyond one mile the submarine can, then, without fear of discovery, navigate the surface of the sea. Any nearer approach must, to insure safety, be made under the waves. A strange but notable fact in estimating its military value is that it is not possible for ships of a hostile fleet to be notified by microphones of the submarine's approach. All battleships are equipped with microphones, which, receiving the sound of the waves, notify these vessels, especially at night or during a fog, of the presence and approach of other craft. The microphone, which notes the approach of ships of even small tonnage, is silent as to the submarine. This is due to the absence of oscillation from the submarine's electric motor.

It has been, however, discovered that, while from the bridge of a ship submerged objects may be discerned when quite near the surface only, they may, if observations be taken from a greater height, be perceived to a depth proportionate to the height of the point of observation; bence the value of balloons in new naval tactics. Experiments show that at a height of 200 or 300 yards submerged objects may be seen to a depth of 30 or 40 yards and at a radius of more than 200 yards around the balloon. The higher the balloon the wider the aeronaut's range? of observation and the greater his own security. The balloon may prove the submarine's greatest foe.

NEW NATIONAL PARK.

Some Features of One Created In Idaho.

Another national park has been created in Idaho by the interior department, awarting only the ratification of congress to put it on the same basis as the Yellowstone and the Yosemite national parks, says the Chicago Tribune. This new reserve takes in Shoshone falls and Blue lakes, on the Snake river, in southern Idaho, and includes some of the most beautiful scenery in the world.

The new national park is 25 miles from a railroad, and consequently its beauties are not as familiar as those of many other spots on the direct line of tourist travel. A trip by stage or horseback from Shoshone station, on the Oregon Short Line, through a wild country, is necessary to reach this region of natural wonders.

The falls themselves are rivaled only by those of Niagara. While, of course, nothing in the world can compare in volume with the vast cataract of the ply of water. The tests were made on great lakes channel, Ningara lacks the small fruits. Careful records were kept wild and weird setting that Shoshone is 1,200 feet broad and flows in a cauyon 800 feet deep. The water itself is and above those not irrigated were as many fathoms deep. Toward the falls follows: Blackberries, 1,038 quarts per the channel narrows. The river, 900 feet wide, sweeps swiftly through a narrow gorge with precipitous lava sides 1.200 feet high. It reaches a 221 foot precipice and plunges over with a roar which is re-echoed by nature's walls on both sides.

Clarence W. Dolan has returned to Newport to make a test of a new electric automobile that he has had made for touring purposes, says the New York Times. It is constructed both for speed and endurance and is long and narrow, so as to offer as little resistance to the atmosphere as possible. It will run 120 miles without being recharged and is designed for an average speed of 25 miles an hour,

BAD BLOOD, BAD COMPLEXION.

The skin is the seat of an almost endless variety of diseases. They are known by various names, but are all due to the same cause, acid and other poisons in the blood that irritate and interfere with the proper action of the skin. To have a smooth, soft skin, free from all eruptions, the blood must be kept pure and healthy. The many preparations of arsenic and potash and the large number of face powders and lotions generally used in this class of diseases cover up for a short time, but cannot remove permanently the ugly blotches and the red, disfiguring pimples.

Eternal vigilance is the price of a beautiful complexion when such remedies are relied on. Mr. H. T. Shobe, 2704 Lucas Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., says: "My daughter was afflicted for years with a disfiguring eruption on her face, which resisted all treatment. She was taken to two celebrated health springs, but received no bene-fit. Many medicines were prescribed, but with-out result, until we decided to try S. S. S., and by the time the first bottle was finished the eruption began to disappear A dozen bottles cured her completely and left her skin perfectly smooth. She is now seventeen years old, and not a sign of the embarrassing disease has ever returned."

S. S. S. is a positive, unfailing cure for the worst forms of skin troubles. It is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and the only one guaranteed purely vegetable.

EXAMINATIONS FREE TO ALL.

Whenever it is known that Dr. Kutchin is stopping at a place, crowds gather to consult him, and it is not to be wondered at when it is remembered that in diagnosing a disease he never asks a question, but describes the different diseases better than the sick can themselves. It is a wonderful gift for anyone to possess, and Dr. Kutchin's diagnostic powers have created wonder throughout the country.

He adopted the following plan, which is peculiar to the large hospitals, and is not and hever has been the practice of country doctors, viz. he carefully notes the symptoms of the patient, and ascertains the condition of the internal organs, all of which he carefully records in his register for future reference. In this way he ascertains the true nature of the disease and its cause. When sick people consult him he readily tells them whether he can cure or help them, or whether they are beyond hope.

HIS IMPROVED METHODS OF TREATMENT Are mild and pleasant; agree perfectly with the most delicate Lady or Child; do not reduce strength; can be used while at work, and give the greatest possible benefit in the shortest possible time. Patients can consult him or communicate with him as often as they choose, during the whole time required for the cure, without regard to where they may be, and without extra charge, thus rendering the treatment as successful and satisfactory as though they were living next door to each other.

Pr. Kutchin has received the most approved instruction in Analytical and Microscopical Examinations of the Blood, Urine, etc., which are now considered indispensable to a correct diagnosis in many diseases. There are many diseases which physicians in common practice do not usually treat, and are, therefore, seldom propared with necessary and costing out it to examine correctly, or treat with success; such cases, therefore, would do well to call at once and learn their true condition, and whether the doors of Hope are yet open, or for ever closed against them.

FACTS FOR MEN OF ALL AGES.

By reason of false modesty the youth of our land are kept in ignorance of the ruinous results which certain solitary indiscreet practices produce. These vices when persisted in eventually undermine the constitution inducing nervous debility and premature decay. Br. Kintchiu has for many years enjoyed the distinction of being the most successful and celebrated specialist for the treatment and cure of these affections. You may consult him with complete confidence. Why South Africans Buy It In Preference to the Australian Article. American flour is making great headway in South African markets, according to the following article from the take effect next Monday. He will take Melbourne Journal of Commerce, quotup the practice of law with his son inrecent report to the state department at Washington:

It is the height of folly to send flour to South Africa in 200 pound bags, that being a country where the natives are not disposed to handle heavy packages. Especially is this true at present, when handy packages are so much in request for transport for mules, pack horses, etc. The 50 or 100 pound bags of flour from the United States arrive out white, clean and tastefully branded, with no chance of rough jute fibers finding their way into the material. The Australian bag, on the other hand, is unwieldy, out of all decent shape and looks dirty and uninviting. We are assured that repeated consignments of American flour pass through the Durban stores while one Australian impertation is being get rid of. New Type of Torpedo Boat.

A test was made in the model tank at the Washington navy yard the other day of a model of a new type of torpedo boat. The vessel is a combination of some of the features of the submarine boats and ordinary torpedo craft, says the New York Sun. All the vitals are below the water line, and the small surface of the vessel showing above the water is protected by cellulose, a material which expands on contact with liquids and stops leaks. The test was very favorable to the invention, the only objectionable features being the low speed developed, 14 knots, and a very perceptible wake. It is claimed that the vessel can be seen only at close quarters. There will probably be another test after an attempt has been made to so rearrange the boat to meet the objections made by the naval experts. The inventor is a New York man named Berger.

A LIVING ON FOUR ACRES.

A laboring man with $400 in money saved up and a wife and three children asks us whether he could buy three or four acres of land near a town of 5,000 population and make a hving our disposal to give in detail the information which he wishes. We can eral difficulties confronting him, entered cared for will of themselves give the into the work with a zeal and determi- man who cares for them almost as nation that insured the success which much money as the man will carn at day's work for the whole year. With such a tract a cow may be kept, some the family with a good share of the meat needed. An acre in onions or melons will bring in from $75 to $100, while a large bed of asparagus will bring in a lot of money before other crops are marketable in the spring. If to these things be added a small greenhouse, where winter radishes and lettuce can be grown and some flowersroses, carnations and chrysanthemums -he can make his little farm a source of income throughout the entire year. Many a man is working by the day year in and year out for, say, $400 who could immensely better his condition by doing something on the line above indicated.

MORE ABOUT DOGS.

A lady reader of these notes in Minnesota wishes we would say some thing more about dogs as an all around nuisance. We not long since, under the head of "The Dog Poisoner," said about all that it is probably best to say. People will never agree upon the dog question. A dog may have fleas and hydrophobia, may suck eggs and steal chickens, may scratch up flower beds and bite the parson's shins when he calls, may kill sheep and chew the stuffing out of his own brother on the next lot, and there will always be some sentimentalist to defend and pity him, some fool woman to pet and slabber over him. Dogs have their proper place in the economy of the world, and it is only when removed from their proper sphere that they become a nuisance. As an aid to man in the pursuit of game, as a protector of his property, as a beast of burden and a means of transportation in some countries, the dog performs a useful part, and for some people who have the disease the dog, as a friend and companion, has a mission, but when we see, as we did not very long ago, a lady on the cars letting her baby squall unconcernedly in the arms of a nurse for want of needed maternal attention while she hugged and petted a little measly brute of a pug. it does not look right. We are very much of the opinion that the world would be better off without dogs than it is with

CUT OFF PINE LANDS. A reader of these notes writes us asking whether the cut off pine lands of northern Wisconsin are desirable as an investment for a man with small capital with a view to making a farm. We have never examined these lands personally and feel leath to advise. This much may, however, be said in a general way: If this land is a clay or loam soil, if it is covered with a fair growth of native timber, such as poplar, oak, birch or maple, it is a perfectly safe investment at the low prices asked, provided one is willing to make the fight of reclaiming a timber farm, but if the soil is sand, covered with small jack pine and but a sparse growth of other forest trees, we should look elsewhere for a farm, even if the land were offered as a free gift. It may be said, however, touching this last mentioned sort of land, that much of it is being reclaimed and occupied by clearing and cropping alternately with clover and potatoes and that some of the finest potatoes in the Union are so raised. The question of the quality of a soil is the most important one in connection with the selection of a farm and should always receive the most careful consideration; next to this the average rainfall for a series of years.

NEVER OWE A DOLLAR.

We know of a large number of ablebodied young men from 20 to 25 years old who have never saved up a dollar and now spend every dollar they earn, some of them before it is earned. It is from this class that come the financial seads of a community, the fellows who beat every man who is foolish enough to trust them. Here is recruited a good many of the brake beam brigade, the old pelters who end their days in county poorhouses, the class who claim that the world owes them a living whether they work or not. We have frequently referred to this matter of a young man saving a part of his earnings. We do so once more, for we regard this as a matter of supreme importance in shaping the future of any young fellow. If a young man cannot and will not save any money before he is 25, with no one but himself to provide for, he will in all probability be a poor man as long as he lives.

DISAPPOINTED.

A friend three years ago bought of a nurseryman a dozen plum trees of a supposed choice variety. He has given the trees the best of care, and this year they have fruited. Two of the 12 trees only are of the variety bought, three are of another kind worth raising, and seven are utterly worthless, bearing little scrawny fruit no better than can be found in any plum thicket along the river. Our friend is hot under the collar and expresses himself in very uncomplimentary terms concerning nurserymen in general and his man in particular. And there are others.

THURSDAY NOVEMBER 8 1900

The work of the Methodists of the attractive new church deserved the while at the same time a constitution warmest congratulations. It is seldom route will be found for preventing o that a new church organization is so promptly put upon its feet. The dedication services on Sunday were interesting in the highest degree, and the Rev. Mr. Mahon must certainly feel en- the extension of the rural free deliver couraged by the enthusiasm which his service, a reduction of the war taefforts have aroused.

The unexpected retirement of Judge Taylor from the bench elicits from the bar and all those familiar with his career expressions of warm appreciation of his faithful service. A just judge and a scholarly lawyer, he maintained the best traditions of the bench. Mr. Ambler will doubtless be elected to fill the long term and ought to be and probably will be named by Governor Nash to serve during the interim.

The majority of the people of this country turn with thankfulness towards President McKinley today. They congratulate themselves more than they can congratulate him, upon their happy escape from a serious danger. Under his wise and high-minded administration they have enjoyed many blessings, and they now rejoice to know that the true, strong hand that has guided the ship of state, will remain on the helm for four years more.

According to the law of probability the entire Republican county ticket has been elected, and THE INDEPENDENT takes off its hat to Messrs. Daugherty, Hill, Hardgrove and Schufell. The success of local tickets enables the party teachings of the false prophets and work from time to time to reward those who have served faithfully in the campaigns | much we may disagree, there is no one involving real public issues. Thus the class in this country trying to tyrannize organization is encouraged and strengthened and great results obtained when needed. It is often fashionable to discourage partisanship in local elections, but in Stark county it is usual for the entire ticket to stand or fall together. THE INDEPENDENT believes in the rightrousness of partisanship. It believes that things are accomplished in this of getting at the bottom of things is to country through parties and that practicar good citizenship involves first class fighting when the primaries and caucuses are being held and then strict allegiance to party at the general election. In this particular case the Republicans elected are worthy of all confidence, and congratulations are, therefore, not displaced whether bestowed in a personal or political spirit.

FOUR YEARS MORE.

The returns from the doubtful states, if there were any really doubtful states this year, seem to point to the re-election of President McKinley so overwhelmingly that it is inconceivable that later returns can affect the situation. The result is what every expert in political affairs expected, and what every intelligent citizen, not shaken in his conviction by false issues, aided in bringing to set them apart as a class and make Landlord Arnold, of the hotel. TIME FOR A CHANGE.

Mr. Bryan and his Democratic organ have been playing with gunpowder for about four years, and it is about time for them to follow a safer occupation The candidate has gone through the country like a fire brand warning the poor against the rich, the borrowe against the lender, the workingman against his employer, until a stranger might really believe the republic to be half slave, half free. No new principle has been enunciated and no germinal truth laid down from which any hopeful or helpful legislation could possibly be evolved. We have been listening to the gospel of gloom in a period of peace and unparalleled prosperity, and the choice of the country is being calmly determined today by a system which, as No President in recent times has won Judge Day aptly remarked Monday night, requires the President of the United States to go into the polling

There is no other country like this unfollowed into the voting booths and compelled to vote against their private opinion. The verdict of today, whatever it may be, will be that of the people of the United States, and when it is proclaimed it will be a very good thing for every one of us to get away from the together upon the theory that however over any other class.

causes anything it should be inspiration to those who seek it. Vast inherited fortunes continue to be rare in this cases that come naturally to mind when wealth is considered. The true method study a community with which one is pertectly familiar, for as a rule the life of one community is duplicated in every other community. In Massillon, for example, we can all recall dozens of cases of wealth made in one generation and lost by the succeeding generation. With very few exceptions the names that were familiar in the local business world fifty years ago are unknown today, and the property those men controlled has been divided until it is no longer recognizable. On the other hand, we can any of us name an equal number of men who have come up from the ranks within the past twenty years, and, aided only by their industry and their intelligence, have accumulated large fortunes in legitimate business enterprises of every description.

GALVESTON'S SCHOOLS

Massilion Pupils Raise Money to Repair and Restore Them.

The following letter from Galveston, Texas, was recently received by Supt. E. A. Jones, of the public schools: Galveston, Texas, Oct. 15, 1900.

Massillon, O. Dear Sir:-The storm which visited our city September 8 destroyed our public school buildings. We are without store them, and our people are not able to impose additional burdens on themselves for this purpose, because the destruction is so great and general, nor are we able to maintain our schools for the full term after they are repaired and restored. Our teachers have generously offered to teach a part of the school year without compensation after we have repaired our buildings. The architect's estimate to repair the houses standing is $48,000. This by no means represents the loss to the schools, but it does represent what is necessary to make our buildings habit-

Will you not give the children of your nublic schools an opportunity to nelp the surviving children of the Galveston public schools to restore and repair their school buildings, that the children of these schools may not be deprived of the means of continuing their education this year?

All money sent to George Scaly, treas urer, will be used to restore and repair school konses, and to defray the expenses necessary to maintain our public schools. Respectfully,

M. E. Kleberg. President of the Board of Trustees.

John W. Hopkins, Superintendent of Galveston Public Schools.

This letter was submitted to the board of education at its last meeting and it was decided to suspend the rule in reference to donations and give the children an opportunity to contribute to the fund for the rebuilding of the school houses in Galveston if they so desired.

The letter was read to the pupils in each school room and an opportunity was given to all to bring a voluntary offering for this purpose. It was expressly stated, that only small sums were desired from each one. The children responded very generally and very cheerfully. The principals reported the amounts received from each building after the close of school on Friday afternoon, as follows: East Street building..... 8 51 Tremont Street building...... 13 60 Cherry Street building...... 1 72 West Main Street building...... 1 98 Richville Avenue building..... 1 55

Total amount...... $46 19 A New York draft for this sum, $46.19, was sent by Superintendent Jones on Saturday to George Scaly, treasurer of the board of education, Galveston, Tex.

SOUNT VON ZEPPELIN'S MACHINE SAID TO BE A SUCCESS.

Has the Day of Aerial Navigation Arrived! - New Airship a Monster In Size-Built of Aluminium and Combining Lightness and Strength.

If Count von Zeppelin, the German Inventor of the latest airship, really bas done all that is accredited to him by the press dispatches, he is one of the greatest inventive geniuses of the century. By all accounts his airship sails either with or against the wind, is dirigible, is under the control of its

VON 21 PPI LIN'S AIRSHIP STARTING. manager and is capable of making great speed. If these facts be verified by further experiment and assured by the future successful working of the ballows, the day of aerial navigation has arrived. At all events, Count von ed the day.

The Von Zeppelin airship is a huge affair, more than 400 feet in length and over 40 feet in diameter. It is cylindrical in shape, with pointed ends, and built of aluminum, covered with canvas. All the metal work of the airship -that of the interior framework and of the two cars suspended from it-is of the new metal and combines lightness and strength to an incredible degree. The motive power for the balloon is furnished by two Daimler mofors, each of 16 horsepower, one in each ear, and they furnish enough nower to drive the construction at a high rate of speed. The lifting of the airship is provided for by the enormous quantity of hydrogen which it contains, and its steering apparatus consists of the rudders, four of which control its lateral direction and the fifth Its ascent and descent. The body of the vast airship consists of 18 compartments, which contain 17 distinct and entirely separate gas chambers. Their separation obviates the danger of the nonrising of the balloon through leakage of the gas from some of them.

TREES ON THE LINE.

We have before us an inquiry like this: "My neighbor some years ago planted cight apple trees on the line between his lot and mine, the trees be-Ing set just inside the line upon his lot. They are now of bearing age, and onehalf of the top of these trees projects over on to my lot, and one-half of the fruit borne by them hangs over my land. I wish you would tell me whether I have any rights in those trees and their product." As very many of our readers are interested in this problem of line trees, shade as well as fruit bearing trees, we give some of the law points covering the matter.

If in the case referred to us the trees stood exactly on the boundary line between the two lots, they would be the property of both owners as tenants in common, and neither could cut them down or use their product without the consent of the other. If such trees are growing wholly on the neighbor's lot and only the branches overhang the land of our correspondent, he thereby acquires no right or title to the fruit growing on such tree, the courts ignoring the fact that such tree may be drawing one-half of its sustenance from his land, and further he cannot prevent his neighbor from entering upon his premises to pick up the fallen fruit or gather that which may hang over on his side of the line, but he has redress in this, that he may trim such trees so as to prevent them from hanging over on to his land, and he may further cut the roots of such trees if satisfied they are doing him harm, or he may bring an action for damage against his neighbor on account of the maintenance of such trees.

A more common case involving the points given is found all through the prairie west where a man plants a willow hedge or a row of cettenwood or soft maple trees close to the line of his neighbor's land, such trees when a foot through either by shading the soil or exhausting its foullity making it impossible to grow a crop within two rods of them. Men who are subjected to this sort of an imposition clearly have in law a valid claim for damage against their neighbor who thus imposes upon them.

OPINIONS DIFFER.

"It is the finest thing which ever happened to the farmers of the country," said a granger a few days since referring to a new rural mail route which had been established in his neighborhood. "It is one of the worst things which ever happened to the country merchant," said the proprietor of a general store in a town of 1,000 people, also referring to the new mail route. The farmer claimed that he was at last brought into daily contact with the busy old world which lay outside the boundary lines of his farm, that he could now take a daily paper. keep better posted on the markets and be relieved of the necessity of going or sending to town so frequently. The storekeeper claimed that as a result of the establishment of the new mail route the farmer would buy less at home and more away from home, and The inventor of the marvelous air- be was warmly indorsed by the restaurant man who furnished the farmer years of age. WHOSE CHICKENS?

A farmer and a town sport got into a discussion the other day as to the ownership of the prairie chickens which the sport knew might be found on the land of the farmer and which the farmer refused to let him shoot. The sport clanned that from time immemorial wild game had been regarded as public property and that his right to the birds was just exactly as good as that of the farmer, The granger warmly disputed this view of the matter and reminded the town man that these chickens had been raised not only on the farm of the granger, but on his grain, bugs and grasshoppers, and that if anybody owned the birds he did, and, further, inasmuch as the law gave him the power to keep the town man from killing his birds, he proposed to do it. There is no doubt that the farmer had the right of this argument, and the sooner town sports understand that the right to enter upon a man's farm and shoot the game is one granted wholly from courtesy on the part of the owner of the land the better it will be. A general and united action by land owners on this line is the only thing which will prevent the complete extermination of all our game birds.

POTATOES AND BUCKWHEAT.

A decided novelty in the line of mixed crops is being successfully adopted by a friend of the writer's, being a combination of potatoes and buckwheat. At the time of the last plowinof the potato crop, which is usually along about the last of June, the field is seeded with buckwheat and cultivated in. The buckwheat takes complete possession of the field by the time the potatoes are ripe, prevents the growth of all weeds and when harvested in September gives a good crop, leaving the soil clean and mellow for the digging of the potatoes. From an experiment with a small patch the acreage so treated has grown from year to year until this year 25 acres of this dual crop is being gathered. Our friend reports the plan every way successful, and it would seem to be worth a trial, for we have nearly all had an experience with a weedy potato patch -weeds which grow after the potato crop is laid by. It may be noted that neither of these crops is exhaustive and so does not wear on the land.

There is a great & Co., Binghamton, N.Y. undiscovered country up there that the United States should be the first to get hold of." Mr. Ziegler is a self made man and has made millions in the baking powder basiness. He is interested in the polar regions and is financing this expedition simply and solely that America may have the honor of discovery. He firmly believes that his expedition will discover the pole, else, "being a business man, I wouldn't spend 5 cents on it."

At the actual head of the expedition will be a man who is thoroughly conversant with arctic affairs. Mr. Baldwin is a noted meteorologist and was with the Peary expedition of 1893-4 and with Wellman in 1898. He had planned to go with the ill fated Andree balloon and was kept back only by the fact that the balloon of the Swedish adventurer held only three men. Mr. Baldwin will attack the frozen north in the time honored way-that is, he will go as far north as possible by steamer and proceed the rest of the way overland, or, rather, over ice. He will use two steamers, one of which will return for supplies and appliances. Mr. Baldwin believes that the discovery of the north pole could be put to practical uses. He thinks that the polar culable amount of electrical force of which the aurora borealis or northern lights is a manifestation, and that this force could be barnessed for the good of mention! culable amount of electrical force of of mankind.

Starch Made From Potatoes,

The potatoes used for starch are the small and injured ones of the crop Sixty bushels of them yield a barrel of starch. They are washed and reduced starch. They are washed and reduced to pulp by machine, and the pulp is carried by water into tanks, at the bottoms of which the starch settles. The starch is then transferred by shovels to another receptacle, where it is stirred another receptacie, where has a same and beaten to a cream. After settling again, to remove all impurities, it needs only to be dried in order to be fit for commercial use. The drying is done in kilns by steam colls and done in kilns, by steam coils, and when the starch comes out it is so white and beautiful as to resemble driven snow.

The commercial starches in use to-day are made from maize, potatoes, rice, wheat, sago flour and tapiocaffour. Rice starch commands the highest price, and maize starch is the cheapest. Wheat starch comes next in value to rice starch and potato starch third in the list.-Saturday Evening Post.

METHODISTS ACTIVELY AT WORK.

Many Soldiers Join the Yew Manila Church-Chinese Horrors Stimulate the Zeal of Christian Laborers. Bishop Thoburn and His Work,

During the very time when the missionaries in China, male and female, American and foreign, were suffering death and torture for their faith those others who were happily away from their chosen fields of work expressed a willingness and desire to return to the post of danger. Martyrdom had no terrors for them, and it is this same spirit that is making itself felt not only in China, but in many other regions. From everywhere come reports of increased zeal and earnestness and greater results in the work of carrying the light of civilization and religion to the heathen world.

the gospel, but one in particular, the Methodist Episcopal church, is making especial efforts this year to extend its field of usefulness. This church has en foot a movement to increase its membership in the United States by 2,000,000. It is already the most numerous Protestant denomination in the country. Besides their domestic efforts the Methodists maintain abroad a large and efficient staff of missionaries and three bishops, William Taylor and Joseph C. Hartzell, missionary bishops for Africa, and James M. Thoburn, missionary bishop for India and Malaysia.

Bishop Thoburn had much experience as a missionary in India before his election by the general conference of his church in 1888 as missionary bishon of that country. He was born in Ohio, March 7, 1836, and is a graduate of Alleghany college. His father died when he was quite young, and his college education was due to the exertions of his mother. He was graduated at 21. Two years before that event he joined the Methodist church, and two years after graduating, at 23, he was sent to India as a missionary. Bishop Thoburn preaches in both the European and the native languages, and is very successful. He built the largest church in India, and was for five years editor of The Indian Witness, a Methodist paper with a large circulation. He is the author of several books, detailing his missionary experiences. Needless to say, Bishop Thoburn is an enthusiast in his work, He has frequently returned to the United States to make appeals for assistance, funds, etc., which have been granted to him cheerfully. The number of his converts is very large.

Last spring Bishop Thoburn was in Manila, where he held the rst Metho-

It is a very small, unpretentious building, compared with the many large and costly Roman Catholic churches and cathedrals, for it cost only about $200 (Mexican), but, as the native pastor says, "Poco tiempo" (literally, little time), meaning that it will do for the present, until greater ones can be erected. The first Filipino Protestant pastor is Nicholas Zamera, B. A., a graduate of the Roman Catholic college of Manila. During the first Methodist services in the Philippines more than 50 American soldiers professed conversion.

The ancient parable refers to grain which, when sown, yielded a hundredfold, that in the mind of the speaker being a maximum return, but here we have before us several ears of corn each of which has a thousand kernels of corn upon it.

The corn shredders do not work well when the corn is very dry. It needs to be damp enough so that the stalks will be tough and not brittle. On the other hand, care must be used to see that it is not too damp, otherwise the fodder will not keep.

The abnormally high price of flax this year will undoubtedly induce many a man to pay big prices for seed and sow a large area of it next year. We would not do it. Flax has no place in any well ordered system of crop rotation. It is a crop for a new country and a new and unsubdued soil. It is a soil impoverisher of the first class.

The extended August rains reached out over a good deal of the buffalo grass country, to the decided detriment of that variety of grass as a winter pasture. Late summer and fall rains prevent the perfect curing of the June and July growth, or rather cure it altogether too much, bleaching it and is no chance whatever for debate as making it almost worthless as a winter

A flock of a dozen quail, perhaps bewildered in their flight, lit down in one of the alleys of a western town not long since. Where they should have found friends and admirers they were beset by men with guns, seeking to slaughter them, and this, too, in defiance of the law. But few of them escaped. It was a wanton and cruel thing to do.

Only a few years ago no one in England would touch the tomato as a food. It would seem that the people there are rapidly getting to like them, for no less than 17,000 tons of tomatoes were shipped to London from the Canary islands the past year. The taste for this fruit has largely been developed through the use of the American canned product.

The West India hurricane which wiped out the city of Galveston reached farther inland on this continent than such storms usually do. It made specially had work with the orchards laden with one of the best crops of fruit known for many years. The windfall of fruit incident to that storm exceeded one-half of the crop and, being in the case of winter or late fruits quite immature, was of little value, even where the canneries and dry- needs preaching all over the country. bouses could use it.

An Iowa man this season raised 60 of ground, which he sold at 75 cents per bushel. An acre of such a crop of The Bible speaks of the separation mions would have yielded 960 bushels, of the sheep and the goats, but who wide if sold at the same figure, would there brought in the large sum of $720. Not one-half mile from where this crop was reised another man had an acre When a farmer gets an assortment of of coin, which to took no care of,

> Traveling through a section of the west where large areas of sweet corn are grown to supply the numerous canneries we were surprised to note how very small a proportion of the cornstalks left in the neld after the green ears were snapped had been saved for fodder. As we noted it hundreds of acres of the very best forage in the world was thus wasted, and it was allowed to rot down in the field when $1 worth of labor would have saved $6 worth of the choicest fodder.

> We were talking with a New York dairyman a few days since. He told us that he kept 12 cows on a 100 acre farm; that he fed them $15 hay, 50 cent corn and $20 ground feed; that these cows brought him in a gross return per year of $40 each. He met men while in the west who keep a like number of cows, feeding them $5 hay, 25 cent corn and $14 ground feed, the cows averaging over $50 per head in gross returns. It is evident that dairying is a more profitable business in the west than it is in the east

> Where could one find more agricultural woe than all through the hard wheat section of the northwest among those farmers who have waited for the machine to thrash from the shock? Rain after rain, flood after flood have come upon the fields until it has been impossible to move an engine and separator, and the blackened shocks of grain have settled down into the mass of rag weed-a rotting, sodden mass. It is but too true that some men have sense enough to raise a crop and still not enough to take proper care of it after they have raised it.

If one has a pear or an apple tree in the orchard which blights to the extent of one-fourth of the season's growth, the sooner such tree is cut down and burned up the better. This blight is, to a certain extent, contagious, and for this reason we will not allow a Transcendent crab tree to grow in our orchard, notwithstanding that, while this crab will blight till it looks as though it has passed through the fire, it is rarely ever killed by it. We watch for the blight, and when it first appears cut the twig back and burn it up. This is the only remedy.

HILLS FOR APPLE ORCHARDS.

There are thousands of acres of rough land bordering streams and coulees all through the west, of little value save to furnish a scant pasture when rain is plenty, which could be most profitably used for apple growing, especially all such hills as may have an available north, northeast or northwest slope. The apple likes a stony or tocky soil and will really do better on such soils than it will on the loamy and richer soils of the flatlands. We know of one orchard-and it is one of the most healthy and productive of which we have knowledge in the state of Minneseta-which is growing on the north slope of a hill so steep that it would not be an easy thing for a team of horses to draw an empty wagon up it.

AGRICULTURAL MACHINES A NE-CESSITY.

Whatever new inventions in the line of machinery may do in the matter of displacing hand labor in mine, mill and factory, as affecting injuriously the status of the laboring man, there to the absolute necessity of every sort of labor saving device upon the farm. Year by year the hired man problem becomes a more serious one on the farm. Wages year by year get higher, and good men are harder to obtain. Because of this the work on the farm has passed from the two horse to the three horse stage and on many farms to the four horse stage, meaning by this that one man with modern machinery and three or four horses now does the work formerly done by two men and four horses.

CLOVER AS A FERTILIZER.

Clover is the only agent whereby many portions of a quarter section farm can be fertilized. The home lots will readily absorb all the barnyard fertilizer. The value of a two year eropping of clover as a fertilizer on the soil we have never seen exactly stated. We have in mind one field which we watched closely two years ago where the increase in the yield of corn on a piece of clover sod for the first crop was easily 20 bushels per acre, and it is not fair to presume that this crop exhausted all the fertility imparted to the soil by the clover. With this easy and effective way of restoring soil fertility and increasing erop productiveness it is a constant surprise to us that so little clover is grown. The gospel of clover culture NEW AND CHIC STYLES.

Velvet Bodices - Princess Gowns,

Handsome Long Coats.

Actvet bodiess are to be worn this Winter as well as those of velveteen. Liberty velv*teen makes lovely bod ices and wears extremely well. An effective model is a pretty shade of green or brown, whichever is most becoming, made with a round yoke back and front, with bishop's sleeves and a central box plait and standing collar. The narrow cuff that confined the fullness of the sleeves, the collar, yoke and plait are embroidered with gold thread and blue filoselle in a simple design of wheels and cross stitching, or you may have the velvet stamped with a fine design of flowers and leaves and embroider them with gold, light blue and Broadcloth of a very fine quality promises to be very popular again this winter, and it deserves to be, for it is universally becoming, wears well, and even if it is more expensive at first it lasts much better than the rougher cloths. Tan, black, blue and brown all seem to be worn as much as they were last season.

Princess gowns will again be worn for afternoon and evening gowns, and nothing is prettier or more becoming if well cut and worn by a woman of good figure. At a recent wedding the bridesmaid's gowns were made en princesse, entirely of ecru lace in a fine pattern over silk of the same color. with half belts and corsage chou of light blue. This gown would also be effective for the evening with long sleeves and square decollete neck. Elbow sleeves from present indications will be as much worn during the winter as they have been this summer. They are becoming to most women if worn with gloves and are also more economical, as the gloves do not have to be as long as those for full evening dress. Evening gowns with long sleeves are also most convenient for informal dinners, etc.

On dit, that the long coat will be as popular next season as it was last, and for a woman who is tall and slender these coats are most becoming. The lines on which they are made are much like those worn last year, the empire effect being perhaps the most popular. The collars are high, of fur or trimmed with stitched bands in a design or braided. The sleeves are a little larger at the top than those worn last year, and the cuffs are large and slightly flared at the wrist, coming well down on the hand, and usually trimmed to match the collar. Vogue, the source of these items of modes, illustrates two stylish confections as fol-

The waist is tight fitting, very long sleeve, wrinkled from the elbow to the wrist. The bodice is draped with a scarf of tan satin, spotted with tabae brown and finished with fringe. The hat is of cream colored folded chiffon, trimmed with a large bow of tabae brown velvet and a gold button.

Fashion's Fancies.

Loose meshed ribbons in narrow widths are made up with velvets and ribbons in pretty little bows for hair ornaments.

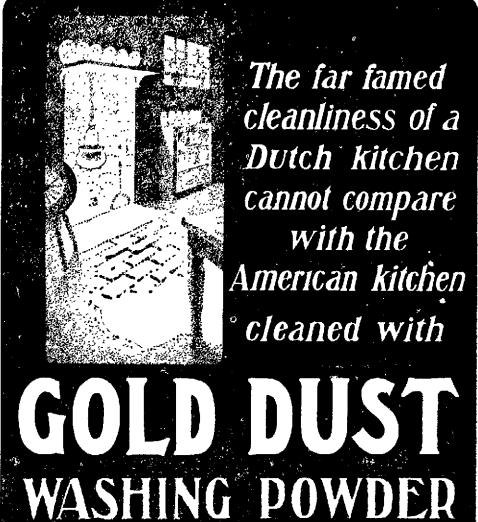

Toques are being worn, and it is pretty certain that they will remain during the winter, particularly the furtoque, to quite an extent. They are almost universally becoming. A very chic little outing suit for au-used on new coats of tailor gowns. Cloth of silver slippers have just appeared, and brouze shoes are creeping back into favor.

One of the smartest models of the season's hats for golf, ramy day and tailored suits has the crown cut in sections, joined by seams, which are also stitched on either side, a style known; as the "rikki-tikki-t."

What Would You Give

To be cured of catarrh! If you or your friends have this disease, you know how disagreeable it is. Its symptoms are inflamed eyes, throbbing temples, ringing noises in the cars, beadaches, capricious appetite, and constant discharge of mucus. Fortunately its cure is not a question of what you will give, but what you will take If you will take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great constitutional remedy, which thoroughly purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood, you may expect to be completely and permanenily cured. The good blood which Hood's Sarsaparilla makes, reaching the delicare passages of the mucous membrane, soothes and rebuilds the tissues and ultimately cures all symptoms of catarrh.

Strategy In a Street Car.

"In the matter of strategy a woman can get the better of a man every time in minor affairs, at least," said a man who is in business down town and who rides home in a West Philadelphia car during the rush hour every evening. "I usually get a seat, for I take the car away down at Fourth street. The other evening I was busily reading my paper when a woman got aboard at Twelfth street. I glanced up slyly and saw that all the seats were occupied. Hasty as my glance was, she caught my eye, and that was my finish. Smiling broadly, she came over to where I was sitting and exclaimed: 'Why, how do you do? How are all the folks?

"I couldn't place the woman to save my life, but I lifted my hat and replied that we were all well. 'She must be some friend of the family,' I argued with myself, so I folded up my paper and gave her my seat. After she had settled herself comfortably she looked up at me in a queer sort of way and received. said: 'Really, I must beg your pardon. hausen, spent Sunday at Winesburg. I took you for Mr. Jones. VISITING THE CERIS.

Professor McGee's Party Will Study & Cambhalistic Tribe of Indians.

Professor W. J. McGee of the ethnological d vision of the Smithsonian institution has started from Phenix, A. T., at the head of an expedition bound for the land of the Ceris Indians, in Sonora, near the mouth of the Colorado. river. With him go Delancey Gill, an artist of the Smithsonian staff, and a couple of frontiersmen, says the New York Tribune. They are escorted by Senor Emilio Mata, a special treasury agent of the Mexican government. The party, taking provisions for a two months' trip, uses buckboard transportation. Sonora will be entered at the subport of Santo Domingo, on the international line south of Gila Bend.

The Ceris Indians are considered the most bloodthirsty and most secluded of all the North American tribes. They are difficult of approach, usually either fleeing or staying to fight on the approach of strangers. They speak a curious tengue that has no attinity whatever with any other known aboriginal dialect, and their customs are also peculiar to the tribe. Caunibalism is practiced on the bodies of enemies killed in battle. The main hold of the tribe, on Tiburon island, in the gulf of California, has been assailed many times by the Spaniards and Mexicans, but always unsuccessfully. The earliest known mention of the Ceris is in the ancient chronicle of the aunihilation of a company of Spanish troops sent by Governor Coronado to explore the island. The Mexican government does not pretend to exercise jurisdiction over Tiburon. The band that Prothan the main division of the tribe on the island. The mainland Ceris live in rude huts near the seashore, practice no agriculture and live wholly upon shellfish and shell game. Oysters and other bivalves are to be found on the beach in enormous quantities, uncovflow of the upper gulf.

The professor has been among the Ceris before and probably knows more of them already than does any other living white man. He spent a mouth on Tiburon island in 1594, about the time the savages murdered and ate R. E. L. Robinson, a venturesome eastern newspaper man, and a companion. Mc-Gee was on the island again the next year and then succeeded in establishing reasonably amicable relations with the fierce tribesmen. Thus he was enabled to compile a vocabulary of 700 words of the Ceris tongue.
